You have the right to request that Truist disclose categories or specific pieces of personal information we have collected about you over the last 12 months, the categories of sources from which that information was collected, the business or commercial purpose(s) for which the information was collected, sold, or shared with third parties for cross context behavioral advertising, and the categories of third parties with whom we share personal information.

Right to Correct

You have the right to request correction of inaccurate personal information maintained by Truist. In many instances, such updates are best made by logging into your online account or employee portals, calling 1-844-4TRUIST, or visiting a branch, and some corrections may require specific documentation to be provided as required by law. If you provide us documentation, it will only be used or maintained for the purpose of correcting the information and complying with our recordkeeping requirements under the CCPA. Truist also provides the Privacy Center and privacy request line as described below.

Right to Delete

You have the right to request deletion of personal information that Truist has collected, subject to certain exceptions. For example, we may deny your request if retaining the information is necessary for us to complete a transaction you requested or comply with our legal obligations.

Submitting a Verified Request

Individuals are welcome to submit right to know, correction, or deletion requests by visiting our Privacy Center or by calling 888-294-2265.

All requests must be verified prior to receiving a response, using Truist authentication protocols. Requesters will be asked to supply certain basic personal information to enable us to verify the request against our records, such as name, Social Security number, and address. Information submitted for verification purposes will only be used to verify the requestor's identity and/or authority to make a request on another's behalf.

Opt Out Preference Signals for visitors to careers.truist.com

Your internet browser may give you more control over your privacy preferences via a Global Privacy Control (GPC) signal. This is a setting in your browser that notifies the websites you visit of your preferences to opt out of selling or sharing your personal information under California law. If you have opted out via the GPC signal, the Truist careers website will recognize this signal and process your preference automatically as it pertains to tags, cookies and pixels that collect personal information when you visit careers.Truist.com. Please note, you will need to enable the signal on each browser that you use, as the signal is processed at the browser-level and is not applied if you visit careers.Truist.com from a different browser or device that does not have the GPC signal enabled.

Truist also enables you to make an ongoing connection between your browser and your account when you send the opt-out of "sale" / "sharing" of your personal information request with a GPC signal as follows. With the GPC active, log on to Privacy Center. The user preference to "Opt Out of Third Party Sharing" will be grayed out and enabled automatically. This will ensure the selection continues to apply when you are logged in, even if you are using a browser that does not have the GPC signal enabled.

Non-Discrimination

The submission of any CCPA request will have no impact on your treatment at Truist. It will not result in retaliation against an employee, applicant, or independent contractor.

Consumers Under 16 Years of Age

Truist may collect the personal information of children under the age of 16 in connection with your employment relationship (e.g., information about your benefits/dependents). However, Truist does not knowingly sell such personal information or share it for cross-contextual advertising.

Privacy Center for Requests and Updating Preferences

Through the Truist Privacy Center, you can submit requests to see, delete and edit information we've collected and update your sharing and marketing preferences.
